8 x 10" Black and white photograph of a group of people planting a tree in memory of an unknown fallen soldier. The group includes Marshall Ferdinand Foche (Commander and Chief of Allied forces in France,) Mrs. Alexander McEwan (president of the Seattle Garden Club,) and Brig. General MacAlexander (Camp Lewis.) A sapling elm is sitting in a hole in the foreground of the picture. Mrs. McEwan is standing behind the elm, digging a shovel into a pile of soil and preparing to ceremonially fill the hole. Men in uniform look on. On the right side of the photograph, a young man in a doughboy uniform holds a flag pole in the crook of his arm, while his hand is clasped firmly against his heart. This elm, planted at 120th and Glendale Way was one of the first memorial trees planted.
