Glacier student scrapbook 1966-67. Brown burnt wood, letters and symbol burnt in, leather hasps with brass studs, leather ties. 20" long x 12 1/2" wide.

Assembled by a student appointed as Senior Class Historian, who assembled photos and other memorabilia relating to activities of the senior class. According to Chris Plym, the Senior Class Historian for 76-77, at one time there was a "huge" stack of them in a storage room. When he was appointed he was told to look at the old ones

I received this scrapbook from my Grandmother Grant's sister Hazel. There are some proverbs I especially liked from my dad's Navy magazine, pictures of horses and newspaper stories of two very large and similar earthquakes: 1949 and 1996. The 1949 earthquake, April 13 was described in the Seattle times as being an 8 on the Mercali Index. #8 is "destructive, chimneys, cornices fall." The Seattle Times in 1996 says the 1949 quake was 7.1.
