Row 1: 2nd boy from right is Ernie Eder, he later had the Burien Tin Shop. The 5th boy in the first row is Frank Goodsell.

Row 2: 3rd girl from right is Better Lou Schumaker, 4th girl is June Beck (Donor), 5th girl is Muriel White, 7th girl is Lorraine Bourns

Row 3: 5th girl from right may be Alice Lee Fisher

Row 4: 5th boy from right is Bill Hull, the 7th boy may be Kiyoshi Seike.

There were three Japanese boys in the class; Shozo Hiyashi, Kiyoshi Seike and one other whose name she doesn't remember. Kiyoshi Seike is the owner of the Seike Bonsai Garden at the north end of the SeaTac Airport. She thinks the gardens have been relocated recently due to the airport expansion. The third boy, died in the internment camp during WWII.

Description: Mounted photo of the dedication of Sunnydale School Bell event. There is also a reproduced smaller copy. On the back of the cardboard is a description that reads: Harry Kittleman, Sunnydale Elementary School principal, presided at the May, 1952 dedication of the old bronze Sunnydale school bell. Students and pioneers joined in ceremonies when the refurbished bell was set in concrete on the school grounds. In earlier days, the bell was used to summon children to school, to warn citizens of fire or other emergencies, and to summon worshippers to church. It was heard regularly until 1928. The memorial service was in honor of pioneers who had helped establish the first school in Sunnydale.
