8 x 10" B & W photo of the Burien Co-operative Store in 1921. Shows the store with 4 men standing and 2 men sitting in front, and a Ford truck parked alongside. Sign on truck says "Seattle Consumers Co-operative Assn." A sign propped against the porch in front of the store says, "HOME OF BURIEN CO-OPERATIVE STORE, ORGANIZE YOUR PURCHASING POWER". This building may have originally faced 9th Ave SW at 152nd and was later (possibly) turned to face 152nd SW.

The Seattle Consumers Co-Operative Association was formed in 1918 of 8 area grocery stores and later added other industries. The Co-Operative movement in the region was very strong and grew out of the response to the Seattle General Strike. (Democratic By Design by Gabriel Metcalf)

Newspaper caption enclosed: "This photograph, taken in April of 1940, shows the activity and appearance at the corner of SW 152nd St. and 21st SW. The view is east on SW 152nd from 21st SW. The picture was taken by County Engineers to record the newly paved stretch of road. From April to August of 1940 county crews worked to repave S. and SW 152nd from 21st SW to Des Moines Way S."

Wright's Grocery

The large building in the photo is that of Wright's Grocery store. This is a mixed use building in Seahurst; an apartment on the top floor and the store underneath. This building is currently (2009) a consignment clothing and toy store.

A second photo, enlargement of the smaller one, shows a cottage next to the grocery store with a car parked in front of it. That building is a doctor's office. Across the street is a very small office that handles real estate and sits at the roadside and near the playfield of St. Francis of Assisi School.

8" x 6" B & W photo of the Galbraith Bacon Dock at the foot of Spring Street on Elliott Bay. The pier was leased by Galbraith and Bacon from the Northern Pacific Railway Co. This also served as the primary dock for the Mosquito Fleet and other Puget Sound transport companies servicing the various communities around Puget Sound. Note the Denny Hotel at the middle of the far left of the photo. First University of Wash. building in the right quarter of the photo. The Denny Hotel was a victim of the sluicing of the hill on which it stands to provide more land instead of the hills. This is now Pier 54 and the building still exists.
